Betraying the vampire king has deadly consequences. But what if you crave the punishment? CHARLOTTE... Get in, get the intel, get out. And above all, don't get noticed. As a master thief, Charley D'Amico lived by those rules... until she screwed up and fell in love with her mark-a sexy, commanding vampire king whose cravings are as dark as his secrets. She should be running for her life. Instead, she's running into his arms. Into his bed. Into his punishing, demanding mouth. Bad idea? Definitely. But if anyone can help Charley take down her vicious uncle and keep her sister out of danger, it's Dorian Redthorne... Assuming he doesn't kill her first. DORIAN... For vampire king Dorian Redthorne, love and betrayal have always gone hand in hand. Charlotte D'Amico is no different. Her dark, sinful seduction was all a lie. Dorian should kill her. Tear the bloody heart from her chest. But when she comes to him for help destroying the man who controls her life--a man working for House Redthorne's mortal enemies--there's no way he'll turn her down. No way he'll let her back into his bed, either. How can he? He's the immortal vampire king, and she's a devious little traitor. And traitors must be punished. All. Night. Long.

In this second installation, Liana Castell makes a shocking discovery, after stumbling upon an ancient, dusty office sealed away from the rest of the Tower. Her first instinct is to flee - until she realizes all is not what it seems. The room has been hidden for a reason. It holds secrets about the Tower's past, and answers that could be key to her people's future. But with this knowledge comes grave danger, as Liana will quickly discover.

Twenty-year-old Liana Castell must be careful what she thinks. Her life is defined by the number on her wristband -- a rating out of ten awarded based on her usefulness and loyalty to the Tower, and monitored by a device in her skull. A device that reports forbidden thoughts. Liana is currently a four, the lowest possible acceptable score. When her worst nightmare comes to pass and she drops to a three, desperation spurs her down a path few dare to tread.

"I celebrated when vampires were declared extinct. Those monsters had preyed on humanity for millennia, committing senseless, brutal murders. Like the rest of my colleagues at the Occult Bureau, I looked forward to a world where we could all sleep at night--where constant cover-up jobs were no longer required to keep the public calm and unaware. But the end of vampires wasn't the end of our problems. It was only the beginning"--Publisher marketing.
