"From epic fail to happily ever after" - The New Indian Express Overnight sensations do not become literally so overnight; virtuosos are not always born so; and success... well, there never really is such a thing as success without having tasted the bitter fruit of failure. This book celebrates ten such moments of failure that drove ten different individuals to cut new paths for themselves. Celebrating Failure chronicles the lives, journeys and major failures of these people from different walks who were once rejected or told that their ideas or talents weren't good enough, only to break away from such negative molds and assumptions to be who they are today. The following people's narrative awaits you: • Anupama Joshi (First female Wing

Commander of the Indian Air Force) • Arunabh Kumar (Founder and The Chief Experiment Officer, The Viral Fever Media Labs) • Nehha Bhatnagar (Youngest arts impresario in India) • Rahul Arya (India's first sand artist) • Archy Jay (India's first female bagpipe artist) • Diwakar Vaish (Creator of India's first dancing robot, India's first 3D-printed robot, India's first mind-controlled robot and the world's first brain controlled wheelchair) • Alisha Abdullah (India's first female national racing champion) • Varun Rajput (Founder, producer and guitarist, Antariksh) • Mithali Raj (Captain, Indian female cricket team) • Kunal Arora (Founder, The Education Tree) From now, start celebrating failure. This Far From Happiness

"INDIAN ARMY" What are your thoughts on this term? Isn't it merely a way to describe a bunch of troops that serve our country? No, this word elicits greater emotions in my opinion. Soldiers who must first fight their own battles in order to obtain this clothing. Aside from that, they are fighting with their families to join the army, which is understandably difficult for them. After all, they have to sacrifice their homes, love, children, and lives in order to preserve ours, and their sacrifices are not insignificant; just to save our lives and sacrifices of their families are not less than them. They live the life that no one wants to live, and they do the things that others are afraid to do. They perceive terrorism in other nations and confront it at the border, allowing us to live in peace. They battle for the country and its pride. They chose this life with pride, allowing us to refer to them as "pride of our country." We may not be able to comprehend the sacrifices they made for us, the sorrow of abandoning their families, and yet we see courage in their eyes and smiles on their faces. "Let's Salute Indian Army" is a tribute to the soldiers and their sacrifices inked in the form of poems and stories by 15 different writers.
