We can trust
that God, the WayMaker, is always at work creating the life of our dreams, through

ways we never would have dreamed for ourselves. In a
disorienting
world, with obstacle after the landscape

of our lives
shifting in
ways we never
expected, we can trust that

as we look to

road will lead
us to arrive exactly where we always hoped
it would,
though maybe
not at all in the way we

there is only
learning the

through the waves. In WayMaker,
bestselling
author Ann

us a map that

Voskamp reveals how God is present in the totality of our

the woman who longs for a

parents who

for the

The nosological roots of post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) may be traced back to th~American

Acces PDF Blake Nelson Recovery Road

stress disorder in the DSM III. This reflected the American Psychiatric Association's acknowledgment of post-traumatic stress as a discrete, phenomenologically unique, and reliable psychopathological entity at a time in American history when such recognition had important social, political, and psychiatric implications.

Clearly, prior to DSM-I the lack of a generally accepted terminology did little to augment the disabling effects that psychological traumatization could engender. Nor did the subsequent provision of an official diagnostic label alone render substantial ameliorative qualities.

Nevertheless, the post Vietnam DSM-III recognition of PTSD did herald a dramatic increase in research and clinical discovery. The American Red Cross acknowledged the need to establish disaster mental health services, the American Psychological Association urged its members to form disaster mental health networks, and the Veterans Administration

The Art of Losing

I'm telling you why we

broke up, Ed. I'm writing it in this letter,

the whole truth of why it happened. Min Green and Ed Slaterton are breaking up, so Min is writing Ed a letter and giving him a box. Inside the box is why they broke up. Two bottle caps, a movie ticket, a folded note, a box of matches, a protractor, books, a toy truck, a pair of ugly earrings, a comb from a motel room, and every other item collected over the course of a giddy, intimate, heartbreaking relationship. Item after item is illustrated and accounted for, and then the box, like a girlfriend, will be dumped.
