The Crisis, founded by W.E.B. Du Bois as the official publication of the NAACP, is a journal of civil rights, history, politics, and culture and seeks to educate and challenge its readers about issues that continue to plague African Americans and other communities of color. For nearly 100 years, The Crisis has been the magazine of opinion and thought leaders, decision makers, peacemakers and justice seekers. It has chronicled, informed, educated, entertained and, in many instances, set the economic, political and social agenda for our nation and its multi-ethnic citizens.

(Maudlin Falls book 1, MM, low-angst, fluffly, sweet small-town second-chance romance. HEA) Welcome to Maudlin Falls, where the people are nice, the drama is plenty, and you have to fight to keep the cat out of the peanut butter... Let me tell you a story. Boy meets boy. Boy falls. Hard. Then boy screws up. Majorly. And has to win the other boy back. How does it end? I ' ll let you know. It ' s still a work in progress. One thing ' s for certain—I never make the same mistake twice. Sometimes, I make it three or four times. (Warning: Features an adorable doofus with really bad luck, a snarky introvert with the world ' s most badly behaved cat, annoyingly loving and pushy friends, and cringingly bad karaoke. Oh, and an HEA, if they can all get their acts together.)

In the early hours of 19 March 2011, 22-year-old Sian O ' Callaghan left a nightclub in Swindon to make the half-mile journey back to her home. She was never seen alive again. The prime suspect in her disappearance, local taxi driver Christopher Halliwell, was arrested a few days later. Seemingly an ordinary family man, in reality, Halliwell regularly visited sex workers and viewed incredibly violent pornography. Chillingly, he had once asked a fellow inmate during a prison sentence in the 1980s how many people it was required to kill in order to be a serial killer. Not only did Halliwell admit to killing O ' Callaghan, he then led police to the body of Becky Godden, a sex worker who had been missing for eight years. But as a result of an error in police procedure, this couldn ' t be used to charge him with Godden ' s murder. After a painstaking process of collecting new evidence, he was finally sentenced to a full-life jail term for the killings in 2016. However, essential questions remain: what happened in the eight years between Godden and O ' Callaghan ' s deaths? Did Halliwell go quiet, or are there other innocent victims yet to be found? How far back could his killing spree go? This is the terrifying and gripping true story of one of the most brutal serial killers in modern times and the catastrophic error that almost prevented justice from being served.

"This book provides educators with strategies for engaging privileged, affluent white students in developing competencies for social justice. The education of such students is not only critical for our society, but also for helping those young people transcend anxiety and cynicism to find meaning and self-confidence as activist allies"--

For anyone who experiences a lapse of faith—here are the answers you seek. Faith is the most fundamentally important aspect of following Christ. Yet there are times in every believer's life when the inevitable question arises in the heart and works its way to the soul: If I really believe, why do I have these doubts? The question may have been planted by tragedy or trial. It may have been ignited by rejection or heartbreak. It may even be as simple as an intellectual burr that can't be shaken. If you or someone you know is asking this question, this book will bring help and hope to every heart in search of a deeper faith.

Calvin Lee Brown was a lanky, raw-boned youth on the edge of manhood. Never having given much thought to his future, he was suddenly obliged to consider his direction in life when his family was uprooted from their home in Missouri. Having lost everything they owned in the wake of the Civil War, they had fled west to Kansas. In their exodus however, the Brown family had sought not only refuge, but also promise. For the frontier, as the handbills all proclaimed, was a land of manifest destiny, a land of opportunity, a land where railroads were being built, boom towns were springing up, and gold was still being discovered. It was a land of wide open spaces where people could get a fresh start and homesteads were being offered practically for free. It was a land just waiting to be taken. All you had to do was get there.

"This book was inspired by my concern that throughout my 34-plus years in the supervisor/management field, I only met a few managers who really knew how to manage others. It's an artful skill and not just anyone can do it," says author George R. Kennedy. Do You Have What It Takes to Become a Manager? is a "how to" book written because the focus these days that "education is the best candidate has limited the number of very good experienced people who could really help the educated perform better. "Making the jump from worker to manager is more difficult than most people think. It's an important decision and shouldn't be taken lightly. The book's 12 chapters are designed as A Guide for Those Driven to Lead!

"Powerful, dynamic personal experiences shared by heart patients that the medical profession failed to address." "Heart disease is the number one killer of both men and women. The emotional aspects of this disease are as devastating as the physical illness. Heart patients share their experience with this catastrophic illness along with the coping mechanisms they used to live with heart disease. This book is divinely inspired to help patients to look to divine guidance in dealing with heart disease. Angel encounters as told by the actual people that experienced them. Personal testimony of divine healing is explained in depth by the contributors to this book. A must read for all heart patients, their friends and families.

A Powerful Process to Connect with the Divine Whether you think of God as a nebulous entity who exists only for other people, or you are a religious person hoping to deepen your faith, this groundbreaking book will guide you in developing and strengthening a personal relationship with a Higher Power. "I have met people who have"opened themselves to God with their whole hearts, but they still do not know how to personally experience God," explains author Margaret Paul, Ph.D., who has helped countless individuals fill their spiritual emptiness that left them anxious, depressed or feeling "stuck" in relationships or careers.

Dr. Paul shows readers how to relinquish earthly love, which focuses on getting, and to embrace spiritual love, which focuses on giving. By so doing, readers will connect with the Divine by discovering their true creative, intelligent and forgiving self. Readers will explore their resistance to God; break down false beliefs about religion; eliminate the need to control God; heal self-destructive or addictive behaviors; and welcome more love into their life. Most importantly, they will learn how to use spiritual power instead of power over others to manifest their dreams.

"Your career is unlikely to be a constant stream of hits, accolades, festival circuits — and that's kind of good, because if you're constantly on-the-road, it's hard to write and create." In these essays, Angela Slatter — the celebrated author of the Sourdough stories, the Verity Fassbinder series, and (as A.G. Slatter) All The Murmuring Bones — tackles just what it takes to sustain a writing career after your book has launched. Building on years of blog posts, keynotes, and articles, What To Do When You Don't Have A Book Coming Out explores ways you stay visible and sustain a writing career, with advice on doing public readings, applying for grants, engaging with your community, and surviving the fallow periods when the next release seems very distant. Whether you're a new writer trying to plot out your career, or an existing fan of Slatter's writing looking for yet more sage advice, this chapbook provides a second look at the philosophy and processes of one of Australia's most acclaimed writers of fantasy and horror.

Do Christians, Jews, and Muslims all pray to the same God? Is it okay to be mad at God? Did Adam have a belly button? We all have questions, even if we don't know how to find answers. Over the last 30 years, Today in the Word from the Moody Bible Institute has taken questions from people all around the world and published a few of them each month with answers from reliable Bible experts. Do Angels Really Have Wings? is a collection of the most repeated, most intriguing questions (with a few lighthearted ones too). These questions are then answered by trusted Christian voices like Don Cole, Mike Kellogg, and Rosalie de Rosset. Whether you're curious about Christianity or have been in the church since you were in diapers, this book is a great place to start exploring some of your own questions about God, life, and the Bible.

"If your right hand causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away." Matthew 5:30 This is a radical statement! Did Jesus really mean it? Even adults may find this a scary thought. Often children are confused by a Scripture they don't understand. Some may even take it literally. Do I Really Have To Cut Off My Hand? combines two books in one: a complete, easy-to-read Gospel of Matthew joined with life application commentaries on each chapter. When finished, the child will have read an entire book of the Bible, and he will understand what he has read. He will also know he doesn't have to cut off his hand. This is a great, easy to understand book for bedtime reading with your kids.

Jena Pincott writes about the quirky, under-the-radar side of science and, while pregnant, found herself wondering how her baby's gestation might tinker with her body - and how her body was shaping the future development of her unborn child. She started to ask questions that her doctors couldn't always answer and uncovered unexpected answers in scientific journals. Why do thinner women have more daughters? What do foetuses actually learn when they eavesdrop? How does Grandma's diet affect her unborn grandchild? Drawing on her scientific background Jena Pincott writes about the hidden science of pregnancy. Here is a fascinating supplement to the typical maternity guide, delving into biology, neuroscience, evolutionary psychology and epigenetics, Do Chocolate Lovers Have Sweeter Babies gives a deeper understanding to what is physically, and psychologically, happening to a woman during pregnancy. Where does the maternal instinct come from? Does stress sharpen your baby's mind - or dull it? What mind control chemicals are in breast milk, sweat and tears? It Will

Ruby is a trainee detective, her boyfriend Jools is a criminal defence solicitor. They find themselves on opposite sides of a murder confession when Freya Maskell walks into a police station and, without saying who it was, says only that she's killed someone. Tony Gibson has died from a blow to the head and his body is pulled from the Thames. It emerges that Freya, a sex-worker specialising in fantasy role play, had been with him the night before her confession. The role he'd paid her to perform had involved the use of force against him and she is charged with his murder. But Ruby's procedural errors, which Jools describes in his evidence to the court, cause the trial to collapse...and raise a host of questions about their relationship. Freya swears she didn't kill Gibson, so who did? Whose murder was it she so nearly admitted to? Ruby becomes obsessed with Freya and is taken over by a burning desire to uncover the truth. But at what price?" "If she plays by the rules she won't get her woman; but if she plays dirty will she lose her man?"

For some, its a jarring realization that their past is longer than their future. This leads them to think differently about the time they have left and what they want to do with it. In If No Ones Looking, Do We Have to Try as Hard?, author Mary Hemlepp provides a snapshot of how some women over fifty think, what they look forward to, what advice they'd give to younger women, and how happy they are at this stage of life. It also includes life stories of women whose blazed trails, overcome adversity, and raised the bar. She explores issues relating to female health and fitness, relationships, finance, work life, and well-being. Based on interviews and informal discussions with hundreds of women, If No Ones Looking, Do We Have to Try as Hard? communicates that getting older doesnt have to slow women down. Women over fifty are vibrant, busy women who enjoy life to the fullest.*
