The A11 can best be described as the grandchild of the “Lonesome Polecat” since both schemes present the same type of defensive match up problems. The originators of the A-11 developed the offense for a much higher level, but we have made it possible to run at the youth level. As all playbooks on our site, the plays have been tested and do work at the youth level. This particular offense is not recommended for the younger players and is most effective with players 11-14. The A-11 makes football fun again and we suggest using it as a supplement to your base offense.

An innovative and diverse football playbook can be the difference between winning and losing. In today's game, fresh and unpredictable plays are crucial, so it's vital to pick your plays from a wide and creative arsenal. Sixteen-year-old Warren Erdmann provides just that for coaches everywhere. In My Motion Offense at 16, Erdmann has compiled an original array of offensive plays based on a philosophy of spreading out the defense, using the entire field, keeping the play-calling simple, making the defense adjust to the offense, and using the team's strengths to exploit the opponents' weaknesses. In explaining and diagramming each play, Erdmann clearly illustrates how to maximize the talent on the field and breaks down how a play capitalizes on the strengths of the offense and the weaknesses of the defense. In most of his plays, Erdmann emphasizes that seconds count, communication matters, and carefully orchestrating the eleven players on offense is critical to maximizing their talent and ultimately putting points on the scoreboard.
