Kevin is a new boy at school who has been stealing his classmates lunches. When Rafael's notices his lunch (containing 2 burritos, chips, carrots, and an apple) he doesn't know what to do. After talking to his mom about this, and seeing Kevin at a local motel Rafael decides to share his lunch with Kevin.

The Lunch Thief by Anne C. Bromley - Goodreads
The Lunch Thief, by Anne C. Bromley, is a moving and thoughtful real-life story of how Rafael chose not to respond impulsively, but took the time to think through his actions in order to resolve the problem in a nonjudgmental way. It's a heartwarming book that helps children see the other side of every story.--Thom Ronk, Teaching Tolerance
