Venezuela Works on Foreign Debt Payment Under US Siege with a "Conditional Offer" (PDVSA + Electricidad

de Caracas) The vice president of Venezuela, Delcy Rodríguez, proposed on Tuesday a “conditional offer” for the payment of bonds of state companies Petróleos de Venezuela (PDVSA) and Electricidad de Caracas, in order to guarantee that investors are not affected by US sanctions that, since 2017 have prevented the restructuring of the Venezuelan debt.

One option, before a generalized debt restructuring of some kind affecting all outstanding bonds, is for Venezuela to acknowledge that there really is only one public sector credit risk in the country and that the distinction between Republic bonds and its state-owned oil company, Petróleos de Venezuela, S.A. (“PDVSA”) bonds is artificial, and then to offer to exchange PDVSA bonds for new Republic bonds at par.
